LIBERALS SEND LARGEST QUOTA TO PARLIAMENT

Hon. S. F. Tolmie Wins Election, Increasing His Former Majority

Conservative Candidate for Victoria Defeats His Opponent, Mr. Carey Martin, by 2,781, Out of a Total Vote of Less Than 11,000—Opponent Takes Early Opportunity to Congratulate Victor

Member-Elect Addresses Election Crowd; Expresses Appreciation of Honor Done Him

IN the election yesterday, Hon. S. F. Tolmie was elected as the representative of the City of Victoria by an increased majority over that which he received at the last election, a year ago. The vote cast yesterday was somewhat less than that polled when the popular Conservative candidate defeated Mr. William Ivel.

The vote by wards was as follows:
Tolmie Martin
Ward 1 247 234
Ward 2 1,104 813
Ward 3 1,462 1,060
Ward 4 1,452 863
Ward 5 2,029 1,076
Advanced poll 11 9

Majority for Dr. Tolmie, 2,781.
Smaller Vote Cast

The total vote polled yesterday, independent of the spoiled ballots was, therefore, 10,891. In 1925 the vote cast was 11,545, of which Dr. Tolmie received 6,928, while Mr. Ivel captured 4,617.

The campaign in Victoria was conducted with little bitterness, a fact that was attested to in a very striking way when at about 8 o'clock last evening, after the count was all over in the city, Mr. Carey Martin, the defeated Liberal candidate, entered the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, where Dr. Tolmie and his political friends were hearing the returns, and extended his hearty congratulations to the Conservative standard bearer.

This was referred to by Dr. Tolmie later in the evening when, in addressing the meeting, he called attention to the clean campaign that had been conducted in the city.

"I am pleased with the display of sportsmanship shown tonight by Mr. Martin. I appreciate it as showing a real sporting spirit," he said.

Speaks From Colonist Office
Later in the evening, after addressing the gathering in the auditorium of the Chamber, Dr. Tolmie visited the Colonist office, in front of which had been a tremendous crowd all evening watching the bulletins as they were presented, and listening to the programme offered by radio.

Dr. Tolmie was received with cheers as he presented himself in front of the Colonist office. The member-elect for the city said that he was proud again to be the member for Victoria. He thanked them all for their return. Major "Gus" Lyons, M.P., his campaign manager, came in for praise, and he bestowed his thanks to all who had assisted in his return.

Dr. Tolmie said that British Columbia was to be congratulated upon making such a showing since, according to indications, it had added two more seats to the side of the Conservatives.

It was very difficult, he said, at that time, to pass an opinion upon the results in other parts of the Dominion.

Annual Elections Continue
In the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Dr. Tolmie was cheered as he rose to address the gathering. He said that he regretted that this annual election business did not seem to be eliminated in the country.

He thanked those who had given so much time to aiding in the campaign; those who had helped by providing automobiles, and in other ways; and all who had in any way lent assistance towards securing the election.

APPOINT HEAD FOR MILL BAY SOLARIUM

MISS HILDA I. WILLIS IS NAMED AS SUPERINTENDENT OF INSTITUTION

Splendidly Equipped by Nursing Experience During and Since War—Latterly at Alton

Announcement was made yesterday that Miss Hilda I. Willis, of Kings' Cheltenham, England, and of Victoria, B.C., has been appointed superintendent of the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children.

Miss Willis was selected from among the several candidates for the position because of her superior qualifications, both in the matter of training and experience. Receiving her nursing training at the Royal Sussex County Hospital, Brighton, she went out to Kraguwaiz, Serbia, in 1915 with Mrs. Sinclair Stobart.

At the end of this three-months tour she was completely drained by the great demands of the army. Mrs. Stobart's scheme provided for the establishment of wayside dispensaries in the villages, and Miss Willis was sent out for three months to take charge of one of these stations.

INCREASE SHOWN IN IMMIGRATION

SIR GEORGE MELAREN BROWN SAYS GAIN SO FAR THIS YEAR IN 62 PER CENT

Trade Between Great Britain and Canada Steadily Increasing—More Investments Made

"Passenger traffic has shown a big increase on the Atlantic in all classes," stated Sir George Melaren Brown, European general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who arrived here yesterday, with Mr. W. R. MacInnes, vice-president, Montreal, and Mr. George Stephen, assistant freight traffic manager, Winnipeg.

In discussing passenger travel, Sir George, whose office is in London, said, "emigration to Canada from the Old Country has increased sixty-two per cent so far this year. All sections are of a high type."

"Not only is emigration to Canada increasing," Sir George said, "but trade between Canada and Great Britain is decidedly better this year than last. The import and export figures of the company show a marked improvement."

Speaking on the question of the holiday or tourist traffic on the Atlantic, Sir George referred to the Empire of Australia and the trans-Pacific service. He said that the steadily increasing popularity of Canadian Pacific ships and also the steadily increasing amount of tourist traffic made it necessary to withdraw the Empire of Australia from the trans-Pacific service for operation on the Atlantic. With the completion of the two new "Empire" class liners, the C.P.R. will have a fleet on the Atlantic sufficient to take care of the increase in travel. The Empire of Australia, Sir George explained, was withdrawn from the trans-Pacific service at a time when her absence would be felt least.

Growing to the troubled conditions in China, trade had decreased slightly, but he was confident that this would improve and the C.P.R. would do everything in its power to expand the trade. He thought that the Empire of Australia would be replaced on the Pacific route just as soon as conditions in China improved.

"Canada today stands higher in Great Britain's estimation than she has ever stood before. The press speak very highly of this Dominion and increased trade and more investments in Canada are resulting," Sir George said.

Mr. MacInnes said that he was on one of his regular tours of inspection and found everything very satisfactory. The party came to this coast by way of St. Paul and Spokane and will return East over the Canadian Pacific lines.

MR. DICKIE IS GIVEN MAJORITY

Conservative Member for Nanaimo Riding Very Gratified With Confidence Accorded Him by Voters

CONSIDERS OPPONENT ESTIMABLE CANDIDATE

Mr. O'Halloran Put Up "Clean and Fine-Spirited Fight"—Rousing Reception Given Victor

"I AM pleased to have been elected with such a magnificent majority, and equally pleased that British Columbia has shown up so well in support of the Conservative candidates. I am only sorry that we could not have had the same results in the East. Mr. C. H. Dickie, successful Conservative candidate in the Nanaimo riding, said in his post-election message last night. "The majority accorded me, I think, is a true expression of opinion from the voters in my constituency, and I will do my utmost to retain the confidence they have placed in me."

"This election has been indeed a pleasure to me because I have never once during the entire campaign had to deal with personalities. Mr. O'Halloran, my estimable opponent, has won my respect for the clean and fine-spirited fight that he put up. He kept clean of personalities and I would be proud to be able to call him my friend."

He went on to say in his message, given to a representative of The Colonist last night over long distance telephone from Duncan, that he had been given a rousing reception following his victory. "I will do all in my power to work for every one in the Nanaimo riding, whether they voted for me or not. It is only my duty; it is clearly defined; and I will do my best to fulfil that duty."

Mr. Dickie had a known majority over Mr. O'Halloran of 4,641 votes up to a late hour last night. There were another twenty-one small polls. He heard from, but the Conservative member is confident that he will secure a majority from most of these districts.

Mr. C. H. O'Halloran, defeated Liberal candidate in the Nanaimo Federal riding, upon receipt of the results of the polling, wired Mr. Dickie, his successful rival, as follows: "Please accept my sincere congratulations upon your election, coupled with my personal regards."

Mr. O'Halloran, in a statement to The Colonist last night, declared that he was "happy to say there has been no ill-feeling in the campaign and that it has been free from mud-slinging. I am very pleased with the Federal result and I believe it means Continued on Page 2

Liberals With Allies Will Have Majority When Acting Together

No One Party Gains Clear Control of House, but Conservative Administration Finds Itself With a Minority of Elected Members—Liberals and Liberal-Progressives Outnumber All Others

Quebec and Saskatchewan Continue To Offset Verdict Given Elsewhere

TORONTO, Sept. 15.—At 1:30 o'clock this morning the Canadian Press reports election of 232 members out of 245 distributed by parties as follows:

Liberals	115	Liberal-Prog.	11
Conservatives	87	U.F.A.	10
Progressives	7	Labor	3
Independent			2

TORONTO, Sept. 15.—At 1 a.m. the Canadian Press reported the party standing by provinces as follows:

OTTAWA, Sept. 15.—At yesterday's polls the low-tariff constituencies of the Prairie Provinces declared, as was expected, against the Conservative administration, while at the same time the protectionist province of Quebec failed to afford any compensating support. In Western Ontario a number of normally Liberal ridings which went Conservative last October returned to their old allegiance, and the same thing occurred in three New Brunswick constituencies. On the other hand, Nova Scotia on the Atlantic coast, and British Columbia on the Pacific, showed Conservative gains.

Present indications are that the Liberals and Liberal-Progressives will find themselves with a sufficient majority to carry out the government of the country if they can agree upon a common policy.

Mr. Meighen's Intentions
The personal defeat of the Prime Minister, coupled with the fact that he cannot now possibly secure a clear majority in the next House, raises the question as to the course he proposes to follow. So far, Mr. Meighen has given no indication of the steps he has in mind. In all probability he will consult his cabinet colleagues before making any announcement.

Should Mr. Meighen resign and Mr. King again be called upon to form an administration, there will be busy times ahead. Within a month the Imperial Conference is due to meet in London, and important constitutional matters are likely to arise. Prime Ministers of all the Dominions are to be there to confer with the British Government. Before Mr. King resigned the Premiership, he intimated the willingness of Canada to participate in the conference. Subsequently, at the request of the Canadian Government, the date of the conference was postponed.

Quebec and Ontario
In Quebec the inroad on which Conservatives had counted did not mature. Of the four ministers standing in Quebec constituency, only one, Sir George Perley, formerly High Commissioner for Canada, was elected. In Ontario, Liberals, with Progressives and Independents, increased their representation from 14 to 27 seats. Indicating the strength of the Conservative attack from the Prairie Provinces, the representation of a year ago will not be vitally changed.

Maritime Provinces
HALIFAX, Sept. 14.—A net gain of three seats for the Liberals was recorded today in the voting throughout the Maritime Provinces. The Conservatives gained two seats and lost one in Nova Scotia, lost three in New Brunswick and one in Prince Edward Island.

All three members of the Meighen Government were elected. Hon. W. A. Black, Minister of Railways, in Halifax, with a greatly reduced majority; Hon. George B. Jones, Minister of Labor, at Royal, N.B., who also had his majority cut in two; and Hon. J. MacDonald, minister without portfolio, in Kings, P.E.I., who was elected with a majority of 75.

Gains and Losses
The seats gained in Nova Scotia were Lunenburg-Queen, where Mr. W. H. Buff, a former Deputy Speaker, was defeated, and Antigonish-Guysboro, the former constituency of Hon. E. M. McDonald, Minister of Justice in the Mackenzie King Government, which returned Hon. John C. Dougherty. The seat lost by the Conservatives in Nova Scotia was Kings-Hants, where Mr. O. X. Dewitt-Foster went down to defeat before Mr. J. O. Haseley. In New Brunswick the Conservatives lost three seats: Kent, where Mr. A. J. Doucet, who figured prominently in the Customs investigation, was defeated; Northumberland and Restigouche-Madawaska, in Prince Edward Island; Hon. J. E. Sinclair, a former minister without portfolio in the Mackenzie King Government, defeated Mr. J. A. McMorris, the sitting member.

Touching on the subject of increased immigration to Canada, Mr. Thomas said:

"There seems to be plenty of scope for increased immigration, but the Canadians entertain some doubts concerning the methods employed at the present time in connection with migration. Probably the fault is by no means all on one side."

"Charlie" Is Captured In Splendid Condition

PERNIE, B.C., Sept. 14.—Charlie, the circus elephant, which, escaped with four others at Cranbrook on August 6, has been captured, according to word received tonight. Of the other animals, three were recaptured and taken away by the owners while the fourth, Myrtle, was taken into custody last week, but died two days later of pneumonia. Charlie, according to the message, is "fat and sleek." Two men, named Morgan and Griffith, were injured before he was subdued.

WANHSIEN AFFAIR IS LIVELY SKIRMISH

Boarding Party Comes Aboard as in Days of Old—Chinese Casualties Reported

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Reports from China printed here today described fierce fighting on September 8 between British forces and the Chinese. Some dispatches report 2,000 Chinese casualties. The officials here say that figure is "very greatly exaggerated," though it is admitted the affair was serious. The encounter was at a port on the Upper Yangtze River, between General Yangtze's legionaries and a small British naval force. It was much like an eighteenth century naval battle staged for the movies, with hand-to-hand fighting.

The British were greatly outnumbered, but effected a dramatic release of the British officers held prisoner aboard merchantmen which had been seized by the Chinese and crowded to the rails with guards. Battle on Ship Everything appeared quiet as the Kiawo, manned by a British naval force, steamed alongside the captured Wanhsien. At about 10 a.m. the Chinese were seen to be on the ship. The British were greatly outnumbered, but effected a dramatic release of the British officers held prisoner aboard merchantmen which had been seized by the Chinese and crowded to the rails with guards.

Attacked From Shore The fire of several thousand troops on both sides of the river was centred upon it. The British gunboat Widgeon ran close ashore and opened up with a quick-firing gun, and the gunboat Cockchafer, with her six-inch guns, silenced Yangtze's field pieces and destroyed his headquarters and other marked positions. It was learned later that Yangtze had decamped twenty miles inland several hours before the fight.

results that had been attained that day. He said that he had received support in the election from many who had on other occasions voted Liberal. He appreciated this action on their part. As a representative of the city he would give his fullest attention to the affairs of the city, and he wished all citizens to realize that he was their representative. It made no difference whether they were his supporters or his not. At any time that he could be of service to them he wished them to feel free to write him, and he would be only too pleased to render them service.

Others Address Meeting The programme of speeches was organized by Mr. Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., who had been in charge of the campaign. He said that before he relinquished his office he was going to call upon some of the workers to address the meeting. Mr. Lindley Craze, president of the Conservative Association, congratulated Dr. Tolmie. They had in their representative one who would represent them well at Ottawa.

The fight had been one between two good "sports." Mr. Martin could be complimented on the many way in which, as a new candidate, he had acquitted himself. He thanked the workers for the way in which they had acquitted themselves. Mr. R. H. Pooley, M.P.P., extended his congratulations to Dr. Tolmie, who had run true to form. As one

BATTLE IS FOUGHT BY YAQUI INDIANS

Mexican Troops Ordered to Exterminate Yaquis in Sonora State

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 14.—The savage Yaqui Indians are on the war-path in Sonora State. The Federal troops have been ordered into the field with instructions to "exterminate" the turbulent tribesmen if the movement, referred to in official quarters as open rebellion, does not subside quickly. General Alvaro Obregon, former President of Mexico, who managed to oust the late Venustiano Carranza with the aid of the Yaquis, had a miraculous escape from death at the hands of his Yaqui friends yesterday, when they held up his train near Vicam.

Not Expected to Last War Department officials believe the rebellion will soon be suppressed. Stern measures will be taken to "tame" the Indians, who were formerly as savage as the Apaches. The Yaquis complain that much of their tribal lands have been expropriated ever since the Diaz regime, and that their demands for reimbursement or return of the lands has been ignored. Battle Takes Place NOGALES, Ariz., Sept. 14.—Gen. Francisco Ancha, commandant of the garrison at Nogales, Mexico, tonight was advised of a battle between 1,500 Yaqui Indians and Mexican troops near Vicam, Sonora. No mention of casualties was made. The marauding Indians have burned out bridges near Vicam on the Southern Pacific of Mexico Railway, which were being repaired hastily tonight to permit the advance of Federal troops. The military is concentrating on Vicam, and the Indians are reported in retreat toward the mountainous regions.

BATTLE IS FOUGHT BY YAQUI INDIANS

Mexican Troops Ordered to Exterminate Yaquis in Sonora State

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 14.—The savage Yaqui Indians are on the war-path in Sonora State. The Federal troops have been ordered into the field with instructions to "exterminate" the turbulent tribesmen if the movement, referred to in official quarters as open rebellion, does not subside quickly. General Alvaro Obregon, former President of Mexico, who managed to oust the late Venustiano Carranza with the aid of the Yaquis, had a miraculous escape from death at the hands of his Yaqui friends yesterday, when they held up his train near Vicam.

Not Expected to Last War Department officials believe the rebellion will soon be suppressed. Stern measures will be taken to "tame" the Indians, who were formerly as savage as the Apaches. The Yaquis complain that much of their tribal lands have been expropriated ever since the Diaz regime, and that their demands for reimbursement or return of the lands has been ignored. Battle Takes Place NOGALES, Ariz., Sept. 14.—Gen. Francisco Ancha, commandant of the garrison at Nogales, Mexico, tonight was advised of a battle between 1,500 Yaqui Indians and Mexican troops near Vicam, Sonora. No mention of casualties was made. The marauding Indians have burned out bridges near Vicam on the Southern Pacific of Mexico Railway, which were being repaired hastily tonight to permit the advance of Federal troops. The military is concentrating on Vicam, and the Indians are reported in retreat toward the mountainous regions.

SIR HENRY GAUVAIN REACHES VICTORIA

MEDICAL SUPERINTENDENT OF TRELOR CRIPPLES' HOS-PITAL AT ALTON HERE

Will Open Solarium at Mill May Tomorrow Afternoon. Following Address to Rotary Club

"There is no question of the necessity in Canada of a solarium for the treatment of crippled children," said Sir Henry Gauvain, medical superintendent since its inception of the Treloar Cripples' Hospital and College at Alton, Ayrshire, England, England, who arrived in the city yesterday.

"I am perfectly convinced," he maintained, "that if it were possible to make a proper census of crippled children in this country, you would find an enormous number of hitherto unsuspected cases. The public as a whole has no knowledge of the immense number of such cripples scattered all over Canada. I have been told that there are ninety-three in the schools of Vancouver alone, and you may be certain that the number in that city itself is considerably more than this. So the establishment of a solarium for their treatment comes none too soon."

Sir Henry is over in Canada at the joint invitation of the Canadian Medical Association and the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, who have arranged his present tour through the interior. He is in Victoria by appointment of the committee of the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay, and arrangements have been made for him to officiate at the formal opening of this much-needed institution at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Earlier in the day, at 12 o'clock,
he is to be the guest of the Rotary Club at a luncheon, which they are giving in his honor at the Empress Hotel, when he will speak on "The Needs of the Crippled Child." In this address he will cover the whole question of treatment, not only of the disease itself, but also as it refers to the education of the children and the provision of special training suited to their limitations. Special invitations have been extended to various organizations who have shown a practical interest in the solarium project, and any others who are interested will be welcomed. C. & C.
taxi will be waiting at the Empress Hotel, following the luncheon, to convey to Malahat Beach those who wish to attend the formal opening of the hospital at Mill Bay.

Climatic Conditions
The importance of climate in the treatment of surgical tuberculosis is emphasized by Sir Henry. From what he had heard, the climatic conditions on Vancouver Island and the site chosen for the solarium are ideal.
Sunshine is important, sea air and salt water bathing are important, restful, quiet conditions are desirable. He also congratulated Dr.
Wace on the appointment of Miss Willis as superintendent, Miss Willis having shown remarkable ability and understanding of the methods of treatment in the months she was at Alton.

Missing Hunters Find Way to Shore Of Gambier Island

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells of Pleasant Home Treatment to Bring Swift Relief

So-called stomach troubles—indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, nervousness, etc.—are probably nine cases out of ten, evidence of too much acid in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and starting acid indigestion.
Gas distends the stomach and causes a full, oppressive burning feeling known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining, disturbance of the digestive system, and acid is felt. This quickly weakens the stomach, neutralizes the activity, stops the pain and is harmless and inexpensive to use.
Bismarck Magnesia, powder or tablets only, can be obtained from the drug store, and its daily use keeps the stomach in the condition, enabling it to do its work without the aid of artificial digestants. (Advt.)

JAMES DOUGLAS SUPERINTENDING THE BUILDING OF FORT VICTORIA

In the year 1843, James Douglas journeyed, with a party of traders and artisans, to Camosun—as the harbor of Victoria was then called —in order to establish a post. The party and their supplies were carried on the steamship "Beaver" James Douglas—close trader that he was—induced the natives at Camosun to cut and bring to him cedar pickets, needed for the stockade. For this service he paid them one two-and-a-half-point blanket for every forty pickets, each twenty-two feet long by three-six inches in circumference. The Indians gladly undertook the work, and the building of Fort Victoria was shortly accomplished.

72 years later, when this small fort had grown to a charming capital city, Shelly's established their bakery service to relieve Victoria housewives of the burden of baking and leave them free for higher duties.

H. G. WELLS' SON TO STUDY DIRECTING

Arrives in America to Learn "Movie" Methods—Embarrassed When Found Chatting With Girl

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Frank Wells, son of H. G. Wells, British author and historian, has come to the United States for a short visit in order to study to become a motion picture director. He arrived on the Ansonia liner Tuscania, attempting to hide his identity and eager that whatever might be said about him would not emphasize the fact that he was "his father's son."

Wells is a youngster just out of college, fired with the thrill of megaphoning orders to the temperamental stars of moving picture colonies. The writing end does not appeal to him, although his father, according to the son, is at present directing all of his literary abilities to building up the qualities of modern scenarios. He has insufficient capital to be curious about the problems of production and, being fascinated with the films, the only field open to him is directing. That he will attempt to learn over here. The boy's plans are uncertain. When he landed he expected to remain in this country for no more than ten days. He and his companion, Hugh Brook, who is also planning to become a director, are traveling on limited budgets and they feel that ten days is all they can give to a study of direction over here. Both of them have watched English directors at work, but, at the same time, they appreciate the popularity of American films abroad, and they believe that perhaps direction has something to do with it. Therefore they are here to absorb what they can in ten days.

Wells is in his early twenties, a young man with deep set blue eyes and a surprisingly horizontal jaw. He was much upset when he was found on the ship chatting with a young woman passenger and for some time refused to discuss his plans in any way. He said his father was in excellent health and writing scenarios not based on his earlier novels.

Women Independent At Polling Booths

But One of Yesterday's Voters Chose Candidate "Because He Looked So Sweet"—Fewer Husbands Have Temerity to Advise Wives

"I left my wife at the polling booth with instructions that she was to vote for—" an exasperated husband confided to an acquaintance yesterday morning. "and I'm blessed if she didn't come home an hour later and announce that she had voted for—" "because he looked so sweet!"

Raw him somewhere before she got her ballot paper, and fell for his looks. What do you think of that?"

This kind of grumble is becoming rarer and rarer on election days. In the first place, fewer and fewer husbands have the temerity to instruct their wives how to vote. And, in the second place, they would be rather afraid to broadcast their advice through a friend, if their advice wasn't taken. For women go with just about as much assurance as men to the polls. They are neither doubtful in their own minds, nor do they feel that the ballot box contains very little of the element of the sensational for a generation of the Gentler Sex which is thoroughly trained to independent thought and action in business and domestic life.

But there are still to be found individual instances of husbands who have failed to march with the times and who have no more idea of how to exercise their franchise than they have of how to fit the ignition system into a motor car. They are simply the second hand on their husbands' political loving cup.

The Cynical Type

But side by side with this early Victorian attitude is the hyper-philosophical or cynical type of voter who, devoid of political enthusiasm, leaves the issue to chance.

"Nothing could be worse than what we have at present to govern us. But I don't know any of the candidates, so I wrote the names on a piece of paper, shut my eyes and let my finger on one to decide the way I should vote," one woman was heard telling another.

It must be confessed that women were frequently dilatory in casting their votes and several arrived at the various polling booths too late, having gone shopping or visiting before starting on the more important mission.

One really enthusiastic would-be voter was encountered, her arms full of parcels, bundling her way into a five o'clock bus starting that minute for a distant part of Saanich. "I was determined I'd vote today," she explained to her Colonial friend, "but I missed a street car and then I ran into a crowd gathered round a man who had a fit, and by the time the excitement was all over it was too late to go to the poll. If I don't catch this bus I can't get another until seven o'clock."

The Most Blunders

Women are credited with the biggest number of blunders about election day, and the casting of their ballots. But there is on record a really true story of an up-island school teacher who arrived in the city by motor on Monday evening, to visit his sister. At the breakfast table he picked up the morning paper and was suddenly apprised of the fact that it was election day.

"By Jove!" he exclaimed, "I forgot all about this. I wonder if I'll be able to vote in Victoria, seeing I'm registered up-island."

He confidently thought he should be allowed to make good his omission. But the officers at the polling booths politely and firmly denied him the privilege. He must return to his own constituency to vote. But he was content Dr. Tolmie would be elected without his assistance.

In less serious vein was the merry lady, also a resident up-island but with voting privileges in the city, who, after visiting the headquarters of one political party and putting them to some trouble to discover her ward here, suavely thanked her helpers and announced her intention of voting for the opposite faction.

The hymns sung were, "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul." There was an unusually large attendance of sympathizing friends and the beautiful floral tributes which the couples and hearers bore testimony to the high esteem in which the young man was held by his many friends. Messrs. C. Pearson, N. Cook, H. Lind, J. Le Louis, B. Roman and J. Crosby acted as pallbearers. The body was laid to rest in Holy Trinity Cemetery.

The French fishers make very short work of them, and even the little girls helping with the nets handle them with a contemptuous nonchalance that shows how little fear a bather need have. The octopus has a powerful parrot beak, and one vulnerable spot his neck. It is a mere "waist" between head and body. However deadly his embrace, a pinch there brings him to reason as no other argument will.

MR. GALE DEFEATED IN REMARKABLE CONTEST

Conservatives Capture Liberal Strongholds But Lose Smelter Town—Nelson Is Conservative

NELSON, Sept. 14.—Mr. R. H. Gale, Vancouver, Liberal candidate in West Kootenai, took his defeat in today's election with good grace and appeared at the Conservative committee rooms here tonight, where the Conservatives were celebrating the victory of Mr. W. H. Lyman, and urged all parties to "get behind Ealing" for the good of the constituency.

The reversal in the riding was remarkable. Defection of the normal Liberal majority of hundreds in Revelstoke and the capture of the Liberal stronghold of Kaslo, were features in Mr. Ealing's cap, while Mr. Gale achieved a similar feat in reducing the normal Conservative majority of 400 or more in Trail and Rossland combined. Nelson, admittedly the chief battleground, stayed with Ealing by an increased margin.

PLACE BUSINESS ON HIGHER LEVEL

DR. CLEM DAVIES ADVOCATES RECOGNITION OF BUSINESS AS A PROFESSION

Tells Kiwanis Club World Needs Tidal Wave of Everyday Common Honesty at Present Time

"We ought to put business on a higher level and make it a profession. Instead of fastening a kind of stigma on it. God made business geniouses just the same as musical, artistic or any other geniouses. We ought not to discount business geniouses and place them on a lower plane than other professions, but should introduce into business the highest kind of principles," stated Dr. Clem Davies, in addressing the Victoria Kiwanis Club yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Davies said that the world needed a great tidal wave of everyday common honesty that would result in men divorcing themselves from dishonesty and crookedness, untruth and low relations with their fellow men.

"You and I cannot tell a business lie without our own moral blood being poisoned by it. We cannot cheat a man in business and not suffer more in character than he suffers in loss," said Dr. Davies.

The speaker, a Canadian, who was related to kindness and love and brotherhood. He could not be separated from kindness and sympathy, for they went together. He affirmed, took in every spot from the centre to the circumference. "I would rather undertake to save ten drunkards or five drug addicts than attempt to save one money lender. A man who is a miser is the last person in the world who can reach. When a man becomes covetous, love has gone out of his heart," Dr. Davies declared.

In concluding, Dr. Davies said: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures on earth, but lay up for yourselves treasures where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt nor where thieves break through and steal."

A report in the Kiwanis Club's conference, with the civic parks committee concerning the construction of the club's second children's wading pool, which will be erected shortly at Central Park, was given by Mr. C. Elwood Watkins, architect of the project.

Mr. Hugh Allen announced that the Kiwanis Debating Forum would hold its organization meeting for the fall season next Monday night, at 8 o'clock, at the Chamber of Commerce. Secretary Curle W. Brinkley read an invitation from the United Commercial Travelers for the Kiwanians and their ladies to attend the big frolic at the Crystal Garden on Friday evening.

"Canned Heat" Addicts May Have Started Fire

VANCOUVER, Sept. 14.—Police are investigating reports indicating that the recent fire caused $150,000 damage to Paine Creek industrial plants was started by "canned heat" addicts.

A patient in the S.C.R. Hospital is reported to have notified the authorities of a conversation with a man who declared he had been one of the party in question. During the progress of the alleged "canned heat" party, one of the men is said to have produced a large box of matches and to have declared his intention of setting the place on fire.

As the result of a recent census at three children's libraries it was discovered that among authors the favorites with the boys were P. F. Westerman, Herbert Strang, Henry, Bantyne, Dickens, Hurrell, Conan Doyle, Kipling, Verne, Kinsley and Conan Doyle. The girls put Angela Brazil first, and gave Shakespeare third place on their list.

PARISIAN FOOD IS NO PENANCE

BOULEVARDIER IS STILL ABLE TO DINE WELL IN SIGHT OF OFFICIAL DECREE

Master Minds of Kitchens Plan Attractive Menus With Only Two Principal Courses

PARIS, Sept. 14.—The strangest part about the "grand penitence" which M. Poincaré decreed upon Paris as a means of saving the franc, is that, paradoxically, it is neither grand nor is it a penance.

Pass up and down the boulevards and you see the restaurants as ever filled to overflowing. In the windows of the pastry shops there is the same great assortment of tempting "gâteaux," while in the pig-sellers' windows are the same puffy "foie gras," the truffled pig's feet and the pump mannae.

Parisians eat just as well as ever, regardless of restrictions of economy. There was a joke in the Government's "penitence" decree which restricted meals in French restaurants to two dishes. It is seldom that a Frenchman eats more than two dishes at any meal, for with his hors d'œuvre, cheese and soup—a meal in themselves—he is content with a plate of meat and another of vegetables.

It is not infrequent for the hors d'œuvre to include ten dishes from which to make a selection, and the variety contains meats, fish, salads, olives and similar appetizers. When cheese is ordered, the waiter generally brings a large round platter containing ten to fifteen assorted kinds of cheese and the diner may choose one or all.

There is a Government order, also, to serve only old bread, this being promulgated, evidently, on the theory that if the bread was unpalatable less would be eaten and France's wheat imports would not wreck the franc. But the bakers turn out bread five times a day and between baking there is little time for the bread to become dry.

Today the master minds of the French kitchens are seeking ways to make attractive menus without serving more than two principal dishes. The greatest "ordonnance" of all Paris, the "maître" Rouler Montagne, whose restaurant always tries to be as costly as only the very rich can taste the dishes which he prepares with his own hands, has set to work to help the harassed housewife.

He made public Friday several simple menus in which everything the housewife buys in market can be used. His soup is made from the peelings of potatoes and carrots, his vegetable consists of the "puree" of the stalks of the watercress whose leaves make the salad which accompanies the roast. Hard bread is the basis of a delicious dessert. Montagne always tries out the dishes in his own kitchen before recommending them, and his reputation as master cook is based on their tastiness.

DOG HAS MANY HUMAN VIRTUES

British Professor Pays Tribute to Man's Canine Friend—Has None of Man's Vices

A human professor said a very human thing at the meeting of the British Association. He declared that the greatest joy of his life was a country walk with his dog on a fine morning.

My dog has just taken me for a walk, and we have not benjoyed ourselves without saying a single cross word to each other, writes James Douglas in The London Daily Express.

"Bunch is a scalyhem of high degree, but he does not brag or boast about his noble ancestors. He is not in the least class-conscious, and his only fault is that he is too friendly with everything on four legs except cats. I am not sure that he hates cats, but he pretends to hate them, and if I were not a miserably bad actor his pretences might take me in."

"Bunch's ears are more beautiful than mine. They are silky and soft, and their badge markings are lovelier than my hard, pink appendages. I cannot pick up my ears even when I hear the dinner gong, nor can I let them droop when I fail to get the hang of a sentence. My ears do not register my emotions. But Bunch's whole life expresses itself in the twitchings, tremors and tremblings of his super-sensitive ears. How I wish I had his ears."

Talks With His Tail

"Bunch is alike at both head and tail. His bushy white four-inch stump of a tail is as eloquent as his ears. He can talk with it like a yelman of signals, exhibiting every emotion from joy to sorrow, from doubt to certitude, from caution to confidence, from suspicion to terror. He can ask questions with his tail, and each variation conveys a subtle shade of meaning. How I wish I had

"Bunch's ears are more beautiful than mine. They are silky and soft, and their badge markings are lovelier than my hard, pink appendages. I cannot pick up my ears even when I hear the dinner gong, nor can I let them droop when I fail to get the hang of a sentence. My ears do not register my emotions. But Bunch's whole life expresses itself in the twitchings, tremors and tremblings of his super-sensitive ears. How I wish I had his ears."

"Bunch is alike at both head and tail. His bushy white four-inch stump of a tail is as eloquent as his ears. He can talk with it like a yelman of signals, exhibiting every emotion from joy to sorrow, from doubt to certitude, from caution to confidence, from suspicion to terror. He can ask questions with his tail, and each variation conveys a subtle shade of meaning. How I wish I had

"Bunch has only one meal a day, and I have four, which is according to his example, three too many. His palate is far daintier than mine. He turns up his nose at many human foods and drinks. But I confess that I have corrupted his taste by teaching him to expect a dish of tea every afternoon. If I forget to pour it out for him he will beg for it silently by my side. Believe me, Bunch can pray. Bunch can display faith in his idol, and Bunch can put his trust in his master. How I wish I had his faith and his fidelity, as well as his perfect digestion!"

humanized this wonderful friend. It is our turn to be cannibals. How I wish I could sit at Bunch's podgy little feet and learn how to copy his contentment, his honesty, his simplicity, and his loyalty! It would be joy to be a bit of a dog as well as a man or a woman."

Dr. Evans Reveals His Idea of Possibilities

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Warning to the League of Nations, and to Europe, that the Ku Klux Klanmen of America will resist an invasion of Mexico was sounded here today by Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard, in his biennial address. "I have heard it said that the League of Nations would interfere in the internal affairs of Mexico," Dr. Evans said. "If Europe, or what is left of it, undertakes to interfere with the Western Hemisphere, it will meet with trouble. If any European nation lands an armed force into Mexico, if the United States Government is not ready to act, thank God there are enough Klanmen in America to repel them."

Fashions and Foibles

By Shirley Sharon

Bloomers are American, short white cotton gloves are French, and the straight-hanging English-styled dress is indisputably English. Made in three shades of blue chambray—an apron blue in the front, a duller and slightly darker blue in the collar and closing band, and navy blue in the althine—the dress is charming. Cotton points with the collar, etc., of one color in the print and the stitching in another is also delightful. Apple-green flannel or a frock of dove-colored flannel, flax-blue linen with seersucker or natural colored shantung with dead leaf brown make smart little frocks. Bloomers are separate, and are made of the dress material, but prefer to remain invisible.

Fashion's Fall Forecasts

Velvet Used as Trimming Is Smart on the New Evening Frocks—Color Is Introduced in Shoes and Accessories

Color and workmanship are important elements in dress, says an article in The London Times. Though velvet dresses have been worn this summer, and others have been prepared for the autumn and winter, colored dresses show no sign of going out of fashion. Colors are being arranged in new ways, and new shades have been devised.

Possibilities of Velvet

Velvet offers many pleasing opportunities for color. A mauve georgette dress may have a deep hem and shoulder yoke of petunia velvet. A pale green crepe de Chine dress may have the hem and yoke in another shade of green velvet. Pale grey satin may have a velvet hem; black satin and black velvet are put together, while satin with black velvet, and pale rose with a deeper rose velvet. On dark dresses narrow bands of colored velvet are encrusted as trimmings. Cloth coats have inset velvet panels. Velvet patch pockets trim cloth coats. On satin and georgette dresses there may be a loosely ruched velvet collar of the shape that was fashionable on evening dresses in the seventies.

Velvet ribbon sashes tied in front, at the side or the back give color to a dress; so does a velvet bow with long ends on the shoulder. The velvet substance or lining of an evening cloak may be rich and bright. No material looks better in bright color than good silk velvet. Fur is an admirable trimming for velvet.

More Severe Frocks

Color is also brought into play on dark and light dresses with beads, wool and silk embroideries, flowers, fringe, varnished feathers, pipings, labels and insertions or applications of leather, suede, or embroidery which may be cut out and applied or inserted in patterns on a plain surface. A plain georgette skirt may go with a bodice which is covered with bead embroidery in a different color from the skirt. Cloth dresses to be worn under long coats may be embroidered and fringed with bright wool work, silk fringe, or embroidery, geometrical patterns of colored leather or suede, encrusted and inset.

On a chiffon frock there may be long strands or tassels of varnished ostrich feathers, sprays of flowers, garlands worked on a founce, a panel, or an apron drape. The hem of a dress may be embroidered in bright colors, and the lower part of a sleeve may be worked to match. Sashes have bright, embroidered ends. Waistcoats are worked with silk, beads, gold and silver threads. On plain little coat frocks of reps, crepe, cloth, bright little collars and cuffs are put to trim them, tied with narrow ribbons, from which hang gay beads, ornamental silver, gold or steel. Colored pipings make patterns on plain surfaces. plume georgette jobs have colored edgings. Quilting on dark materials or light may be done with colored silks or metal threads. Smoking, which is again in fashion, may be done in colors different from the material; it forms yokes which run over the arm, makes a belt round the hips and cuffs for the sleeves. Evening cloaks may be smoked across the shoulders and over the arms.

Charming Accessories

With a black, white or grey dress a large, bright feather fan may be carried. Colored shoes are worn with black or white dresses. A colorful jeweled girdle may be put on a black or white dress. Little dabs of color may trim the crown of a hat or a bag. Metal belts embossed and studded with colored stones are worn. Black shiny belts go with colored dresses, and colored belts with dark or light dresses. Colored fur on evening cloaks may pass as good style. On morning and afternoon ensembles this fashion is less pleasing. Colored buttons trim coat frocks and coats. Colored buckles and clasps are used as fasteners to long coats and to trim plain felt hats. Head necklaces are worn on tulle to be carried round the throat closely and tied into bows. The bow of uncurled ostrich feathers, which is being worn

Bishop's Chaplain Is Patricia Bay Preacher

Holy Trinity Church, Patricia Bay, was crowded to the doors on Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service, when the Rev. H. C. Thomas, M.A., chaplain to the Lord Bishop of London, was the preacher, and the celebrant was the Rev. W. T. Keeling, M.A. Extra chairs had to be carried in to accommodate the congregation, which numbered over one hundred people, the biggest number which has ever attended a service at the little church.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

Here is a very striking and unusual coat for dress wear. It is of black taffeta, and is lined with tan kasha. The kasha forms collar and cuffs and revers, and a touch of gold edges the kasha. The large pockets are interestingly stitched, as is the collar and hem. A large bow edged with deep fringe completes the coat. Of course, this is a strictly dress garment and cannot be worn for sport or ordinary street wear. If worn with the proper accessories, a most charming effect will be achieved.

"gas chats"
NO BED IN THE KITCHEN!
London, England, has just been holding an Ideal Home Exhibition, and among the many interesting displays was an up-to-date kitchen, completely furnished from gas range to paring knife, according to standards on this continent.
But sightseers from Sweden, Denmark, Poland and Russia complained that there was something wrong about this kitchen. It lacked a bed. Where would the cook sleep—surely not on the porcelain-topped table.
Some of our grandparents probably recall the huge old-world kitchens which also served as dining-room, living quarters for the domestics and general assembly hall for the whole family in severe winter weather.
How much cleaner, more sanitary and convenient are our modern kitchens, devoted solely to the preparation of food. In many of them the solid fuel range has gone.
The last word in kitchens is the all-gas kitchen, and when gas is the fuel you'll find cleanliness and order.

NEWS OF THE SPORTING WORLD

High School Athletes Have Bright Prospects

Plenty of Good Material on Hand to Make First Class Teams for Coming Year—Rugby and Basketball Championships Will Be Well Defended

Prospects in regard to athletics at the Victoria High School seem very bright this year, and everything points to a record season. Last winter, the school attained high honors in the respective games played by the students, and captured the rugby and basketball Provincial championships. At the end of June a goodly number of the athletes graduated, but the various coaches seem to have plenty of fine material to work on, so that there appears every possibility of the High School retaining the two championships already in their possession and capturing a few more trophies to swell the ever increasing number of cups now in their hands.

Rugby to Start
Coach Harry Smith has sent a call for his rugby stars, and it is deemed highly probable that many new faces will be seen on the school "Rugby" team, as many of the old reliable have passed out. The first meeting of the year will be held this afternoon in the school auditorium, and Mr. Smith is asking all students interested in making the team to be present, as he is desirous of getting things under way immediately. The soccer players have already started proceedings, having held their first meeting last night. Coach Brandt is badly in need of boys to swell the ranks, as his squad was badly hit with the graduations last year. However, Mr. Brandt is very optimistic as to the outcome, and figures that, when conditions become a little more settled in and about the school, his football stock will take a considerable jump, as it is a well-known fact that there are plenty of good soccer players around the school, who just need a little encouragement and a few lessons on the finer points of the game. It seems a little early to make any predictions regarding the basketball teams. However, it is well to state that there are six lettermen from last year's senior boys' squad available for this season's team. The girls have four of last year's players back, so that the school should go a long way in its quest for the Thompson Cups, emblematic of the High School B.C. championships, which are up for competition every year.

Cricket Coming On
This year it seems highly probable that there will be a cricket team playing for the yellow and black. Cricket is a comparatively new game to the Victoria High School, having been first introduced to the school last year, but the students seem to have taken to it like a duck to water, and have made rapid strides in mastering the game. The girls are looking forward to forming a girls' hockey team again this winter, and will be out to regain the Provincial championship, which they lost to Vancouver after having won the silverware for two years in a row. All the students, some twelve hundred in number, are gradually swinging into the spirit of affairs, so that it will not be long before every boy and girl will have a chance to add the Victoria High School either actively or passively.

UPLANDS GOLF CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

S. J. Halla Continues to Fill Presidential Chair—Morison Captain—Improvements Planned

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Uplands Golf Club, officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, S. J. Halla; vice-president, D. W. Campbell; captain, C. Morrison; vice-captain, J. Savident. The chairman of the respective committees were appointed as follows: Finance, D. A. Macdonald; greens, A. Shear; in clubhouse, Morrison; house and entertainment, R. Dunn.

Plans for the improvement of the fairways and possible alterations to the clubhouse were discussed. It was decided to proceed with the former work without delay. This involves the top dressing and reseeded of considerable sections of No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3 fairways.

Announcement is made that as a result of an amendment to the constitution, it now is possible for any person to become an active member if over the age of sixteen years. Youths—men or women—may become junior members if over twelve and under eighteen years of age, subject of course, to the usual restrictions as to privileges.

Other routine matters were considered, and another meeting of the directors is to be held shortly on a programme of work for the new year.

Authorities Will See

Cariboo Road Is Made Safe for Travelers

It would appear that the motorists using the new Cariboo scenic road will require considerable instruction before they adopt safety rules there. The Department of Public Works is taking steps to have a patrol placed on the road with the object of preventing anything that will endanger the public.

It has been found that travelers have a bad practice of throwing stones from the roadway with the evident object of seeing how far these will carry in the direction of the river. In most cases the rocks fall far short and land on the railway track below, which is attended with danger to those employed there.

There is a disposition also to take the wrong side of the road for the purpose of keeping close to the inner part of the roadway. This is dangerous to all concerned. There is no doubt, it is said, in the auto drivers taking the proper side at any point along the route.

COLUMBIA Don't miss your last opportunity of seeing "The Johnstown Flood," produced by Fox Films, at the Columbia Theatre tonight. It is a thrilling film adaptation of the great disaster this country has ever known, with a story woven around the flood that has kept the patrons of this theatre thrilled all week. The all-star cast is headed by George O'Brien, with Florence Gilbert playing opposite him. Others in the cast are Janet Gaynor, Paul Panzer, George Hurler, Walter Perry and Sid Jordan.

PLAYHOUSE J. Stuart Blackton, director of "The Passionate Quest," the Warner picture adapted from E. Phillips Oppenheim's novel, now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, is famous in moving picture circles for the full and well-balanced casts of proven actors, always seen in his pictures. In "The Passionate Quest" Willard Louis is cast as the man whose lust for power leads to his downfall. May McAvoy as Rosina Vernet, who seeks social distinction; Gardner James as an artistic and fiery dreamer. Brought up together, the three set out for London, each with a capital of fifty pounds.

DOMINION To Norma Shearer, star of "The Waning Sex," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which comes to the Dominion Theatre, fans have always been the most fascinating part of a woman's costume. Shearer has been chased dozens of them, and even her closest friends have seldom seen her with the same one twice. If you ever have noticed, you seldom see Norma in an evening gown without a fan. Just notice this in "The Waning Sex," in which Norma plays her leading man. The cast includes Mary McAllister, George K. Arthur and others.

CAPITOL When a father picks a daughter, trouble is sure to begin. That began a great deal of the trouble in the life of Pernie Schmidt, heroine of "It Must Be Love," in which Colleen Moore is starred at the Capitol Theatre this week. Pernie Schmidt, played by Jean Hersholt, was an old-style German-American, and he couldn't see why his daughter didn't like the man of his choice. This notion happened in to the sausage manufacturer from whom Pop bought his sausages for the delicatessen business he ran, and he couldn't see why business shouldn't be coupled with love.

COLISEUM In "Never Say Die," at the Coliseum, one year after two famous London specialists (Ed. Redmond and Frank Allwood) had advised Dionysius Woodbury (Geo. O'Brien) a wealthy young American, that he had only one month to live, the young American, still very much alive, accuses the physicians of arriving at their diagnosis with the aid of an ancient medical book, and insists that a 1926 liver should be diagnosed differently to one of the period 1880. Messrs. Redmond and Allwood, using a clever make-up, fill the specialist roles perfectly, adding materiality to the success of this side-splitting farce.

Coughing at Night Soon Stopped Sore Throat, Tight Chest Soothed Away

If you have a deep-seated cold in the chest, if your throat is sore, don't cough tonight and spoil your rest—rub an NERVILINE Rub in lots of NERVILINE—the rubbing won't do any harm, because NERVILINE doesn't blister or burn. The tightness and congestion in your chest will come out when NERVILINE goes in. It acts as a counter-irritant, draws the blood from the congested area and relieves the inflammation quickly. No better family liniment known than NERVILINE. Use it wherever there is pain—in Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Colds, etc. Get the large 25-cent bottle today.
